Descrizione :

With its imposing leaves and exotic charm, alocasia, also known as arrowhead leaf, is one of the most impressive tropical plants. It owes its name to the characteristic shape of its leaves, which are reminiscent of arrowheads. Both as a solitary plant and in combination with other decorative elements, it lends a tropical flair to any ambience and creates a harmonious overall look.

The artificial counterpart from Europalms brings the tropical beauty of the plant to any interior - without any maintenance. Its detailed, lush green leaves with the characteristic wavy edge make the artificial plant look deceptively real and turn it into a stylish eye-catcher.

Two plants have been arranged in a decorative plant pot, the larger of which reaches a total height of 140 cm. All you have to do is insert the upper part of the plant into a stem. This clever solution enables space-saving packaging and reduces transportation costs without compromising on appearance.

In no time at all, you have the ideal greenery for modern living concepts, offices or restaurants.
