Description:

The impressive foliage of the strelitzia combines natural beauty with tropical elegance. Originally native to South Africa and the Canary Islands, the plant is a stylish eye-catcher - whether in the restaurant, office or living room at home.

With its deceptively realistic, slightly curved leaves, the artificial strelitzia from Europalms is reminiscent of the robust yet elegant appearance of its natural model. Without any flowers, the approx. 170 cm tall artificial plant focuses on its striking leaf structure and blends harmoniously into modern, minimalist or exotic furnishing styles. Thanks to the abundance of leaves, the plant looks particularly lively.

Some of the leaves are inserted into marked shafts during assembly - a clever solution that saves space during packaging and reduces transport costs without compromising the look. A simple gardener's pot provides stability and makes it easier to insert the plant into a suitable planter.
