Description:

You want to scare the guests of your theme or Halloween party? Then..."Theo" cannot be missing.
The animated zombie upper body of Europalms is a mixture of clown and zombie with red flashing LED eyes. Its eerie haunted house sound alone will penetrate your guests through bone and marrow. With shirt, jacket and tie he has dressed up conspicuously and laughs at your visitors with a broad grin. But beware, especially the anxious should be careful about him. Due to a built-in mechanism his head shoots up explosively after activation and then slowly descends again.

The animation is activated by an integrated microphone or wired manual control. Since the figure moves by itself, please make sure that the installation area is sufficiently large and secured before starting the animation.
