Description:

Neon light always had a very specific, striking character. And this is the reason why neon light has established itself on advertising signs or on fairgrounds for instance. With the introduction of LED neon flex it became possible to save costs considerably. Due to the flexible form, design options additionally got more and more. And everything without a loss of luminance. The EC version of the LED neon flex now turns over a new leaf. Changes to the existing neon flex are as follows. On the one hand the eco version is clearly cheaper - so you can save both energy and asset costs. On the other hand the colors (two different white, yellow, green, red and blue) of the respective neon flex can be recognized even when the lights are out. This is due to the plastics' special coloring and it gives the opportunity to deck out a carousel, a car bumper or what the case may be also at daylight.
