Descrizione :

Even without a "green thumb" or if the framework conditions do not allow real plants, you do not have to do without a room greening, because the artificial Boston fern from Europalms is a perfect alternative here.

Its bendable fern fronds can be bent into shape as needed.

While the large dark green fronds are made of textile material, the young light green shoots are made of plastic. This combination results in the harmonious overall appearance of the green artificial plant. A practical insertion rod allows for quick, flexible decorating.

Fern plants are true all-rounders that offer almost endless design possibilities in room greening.

The shapely fern can serve as an underplanting for larger potted plants or as filler for arrangements. Even as soloists, ferns add splashes of green color to your space: as a classic in a pot, but equally in a modern interior design such as vertical gardens.
